

Two workshops with Jim Scott!

Friday evening, Nov.27, 6:30 – 9:30, and
Saturday morning, Nov.28, 9:30 – 12:30

Friday: An Earth and Spirit Songfest

Come lend your voice to an extemporaneous vocal celebration of earth and peace. Drawing on his own music and other songs from classical to jazz to world folk music, Jim turns the group into a choir, teaching by ear and with an invitation to all to join in. Jim will introduce some methods (games) to bring out everyone's creativity and expressions in collective play and music making. Come listen or participate. No experience necessary!

Location: TBA

Saturday: Making Art of our Vision

Collaborative Expressions in Poetry and Music

Musician and composer Jim Scott will lead a session of creative play with no judgments, but with a serious outcome, primarily in song. We'll put our creative impulses toward a vision for a better world. In a context of spiritual renewal, Jim facilitates exercises (games) in sound, movement, word play and even some digression into visual arts.

Creativity is the alternative to violence, alienation and addiction. Putting ourselves in harmony in this improvisational play is a peace practice and a health practice. No experience is necessary.

Location: Church of Truth, 111 Superior St.

You are welcome to take either or both of the workshops. Each workshop individually is $20, and the cost for both together is $35. You can register on GHC evenings to Denis Donnelly or to Robyn Whitbread. Or call Denis for more information at 250 544-4393 or email denis@denisdonnelly.ca
